ABOUT ME

After a career in retail, I have never stopped loving my teaching career, designing various types of courses for very different clients, all age groups, different group sizes with diverse interests. Every lesson is unique and inspiring, filled with smaller or bigger surprises and fun. I use both my language skills and acting experience there. I am constantly looking for new creative ways to achieve the best results for my students. I combine thorough preparation with improvisation to tailor each lesson to my students' needs. I am interested in technologies and I am a fast learner. I also teach regularly online and I have created e-tests. I will be happy to work with you.
